

CALL FOR PAPERS

ANTALYA INTERNATIONAL SCIENCE FORUM - ANISF 2026
“Climate Change at the Center of Multiple Crises: From Local to Global”
October 14-16, 2026

Climate change lies at the heart of "multiple crises" that evolve through mutual interactions with disasters, migration, food, water, energy security, inequalities, and governance challenges. While this process exerts increasing pressure on existing policy instruments and administrative capacities, it positions the local level as the primary frontier for risk contact and implementation.

The Antalya International Science Forum – ANISF 2026 aims to address climate change within the perspective of multiple crises, facilitating a collective discussion on global structural issues alongside locally developed policies, practices, and adaptation strategies. Submissions based on interdisciplinary studies, comparative analyses, and field research from diverse geographies are particularly encouraged.

Subject Areas

- Climate change and multiple crises: Conceptual and theoretical approaches
- Climate change, disasters, and risk governance
- Climate crisis: Food, water, and energy security
- Climate change, migration, and social vulnerabilities
- Local governments: Institutional capacity and policy instruments
- Cities, spatial inequalities, and resilience
- Evaluation of climate adaptation and mitigation policies within the framework of multiple crises
- Governance, financing, and cooperation models in climate policies
- Methodological approaches and field experiences in climate research

Detailed topic list and updates: <https://anisf.akdeniz.edu.tr/en>

Participation Formats

- Oral Presentation: Papers will be presented in thematic sessions.
- Poster Presentation: Early-stage research or selected findings may be presented in A0 poster format.

Note: There will be no online presentations. The forum will also feature panels and training programs.

Abstract Submission and Timeline

- Deadline for abstract submission: June 1, 2026
- Notification of acceptance: June 30, 2026
- Forum dates and venue: October 14-16, 2026 - Antalya, Türkiye

Application details: <https://anidf.akdeniz.edu.tr/en>

Contact: anidf@akdeniz.edu.tr / Tel: +90 242 310 1855

Prof. Dr. Aslıhan BOZCUK

(Dean of the Faculty of Economics and Administrative Sciences)

President of ANISF

About ANISF

Organized under the leadership of the Akdeniz University Center for Social Policy and Migration Studies (ASPAG) in 2023 and 2024, ANISF has been held in partnership with the Antalya Metropolitan Municipality, Friedrich Ebert Foundation (FES) Türkiye, the Water Policy Association, and the University of Duisburg-Essen Centre for Türkiye and Integration Studies (ZfTI), with the collaboration of various national and international institutions.

ANISF is an international and interdisciplinary platform that brings together stakeholders from academia, civil society, and the public and private sectors.